Value of . . . Canadian Currency.

The rate of exchange governs the value of dollars and cents, which is the currency used in Ontario.

With sterling exchange at 8%, a dollar is worth 4s. 2d.; at 9%, 4s. 1½d.; at 10%, 4s. 1d.

To give our readers an approximate idea of the values mentioned in this book, a pound sterling has been taken as the equivalent of $5, or £1,000 as $5,000; whereas with sterling at 10%, the actual value of $5,000 is £1,022 14s. 2d. Thus, if a farm is said to be worth $5,000, divide that amount by five, and you have the value in sterling within a few pounds.

INTRODUCTION.

OFTEN is the question asked by prospective Investor or Settler:—

“What is the value per acre of Improved Farms in the Province of Ontario, Canada?”

It is impossible to answer such a question satisfactorily, as farms in Ontario are not usually sold by the acre; but so much for the farm. So varied are the conditions that enter into the value of so-called improved farms, that to quote a definite or even an approximate price “per acre” for land in Ontario would not serve as a fair comparison, nor would it convey any idea of the earning power of a farm or the comforts the owner might enjoy while residing on said property.

Among the conditions alluded to are the number of acres cleared and under cultivation, whether the land is specially adapted for grazing, mixed farming, or fruit growing; if mixed farming—what it is more particularly adapted for—and if fruit farming, the number, variety, age and productiveness of the trees; the number, class and condition of residence and farm buildings, the location, the proximity to local markets, the transportation facilities, and the distance from churches, schools, etc. There are numerous other details which enter into the values of farms.

In view of above, and to give enquirers an idea of what can be purchased for a given amount of capital, the subjoined lists of farms has been compiled, showing the locality, the number of acres, the values, and, as far as space has permitted, the advantages that affect such values.

It is a list showing farm values, compiled for the convenience of prospective Investors and Settlers. The information has been obtained from reliable sources, and shows many actual transfers (together with the Terms of Sale) that have been made within comparatively recent dates, and also prices at which present owners would dispose of their properties.

The reasons why some of these farms can now be purchased are various. There are cases where the farms having been very productive, the owner has been able to give his family such an education that the children have drifted into professions or commercial life. The parents thus left alone, prefer selling their property, then purchase a quiet home in some town where they can spend their remaining days in ease and comfort.

There are some other cases where the farmers' sons started farming for themselves in New Ontario or the West, or, attracted by the glowing reports from the 'Mining Camps, have left the homestead for those new fields of labour. The parents thus becoming dependent on hired help, often inefficient, decide to sell or rent.

There are other cases where, through death or other causes, property has reverted to men having other business, who, unable to manage it themselves, will dispose of it.

Then there is the case of the Investor who, havng seen a good chance, bought for investment, and now wishes to take advantage of the steady advance in price of Ontario farms.

In many of these instances the prices paid were far below what the yearly product of the farm warranted and have proved splendid investments not only for the man with some capital, but to him who purchased to reside on it and work it himself, desiring the independent life of a farmer.

In comparing the values of the farms in this list with properties elsewhere, it must be borne in mind the price given includes land and buildings in fee simple, not Leasehold. The purchaser is the actual owner of the land, buildings, etc. Live stock and implements are extra, unless specially mentioned.

By making a partial cash payment, the owner usually takes a mortgage for the balance, which mortgage carries a small interest.

There are no direct State or Provincial taxes in Ontario, the only tax on the property being that levied by the local municipality for schools, roads and other public improvements. The tax is very reasonable, a fair average being from 50 to 75 cents on the \$100 of assessed valuation, or from $\frac{1}{2}$ to $\frac{3}{4}$ of 1 per cent.
